

The Giant Turnip

There was a turnip grown in the field.

It was the biggest turnip that nobody had ever seen.

“Wow! It’s huge! Let’s pull it out.”

An old man pulled the turnip but it didn’ t come out.

Then an old woman came to him.

“Oh dear, what a big turnip. I’ll give you a hand.”

The old woman put her arms around the old man’ s waist and tried to pull out the turnip, but it didn’ t come out.

Then their grandson came to them.

“I’ll help you too, grandpa.”

The old man, old woman, and their grandson pulled together, but the turnip still didn’ t come out.

Then a dog came to them.

“Let me help you, bowwow.”

The old man, old woman, their grandson, and the dog pulled together, but the turnip still didn’ t come out.

Then a cat came to them.

“I’ll help you too, meow.”?

The old man, old woman, their grandson, the dog, and the cat pulled together, but the turnip still didn’ t come out.

Then a mouse came to them.

“I can help you too, squeak.”

The old man, old woman, their grandson, the dog, the cat, and the mouse pulled together, but the turnip still didn’ t come out.

All of them pulled together with all their strength.

Then...

“Pop!!”

At last the turnip came out.

It was such a giant turnip.